Manager of A. and M. Expects
Team to Beat V. P. I. on Thanksgiving Day.

MANY ROOTERS ARE COMING

Two Trains of Raleigh People
Will Be Here to See Game.

M. R. C. D. HARRIS, graduate manager of the football team of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College, was in the city yesterday, and spoke most enthusiastically of the game to be played here Thanksgiving Day with the V. P. I. Mr. Harris took the count of the virtual victory of V. P. I. Saturday against the strong Bucknell eleven, and said he was confident that the home of the season would rest with the North Carolina farmers.

Two special trainloads of rooters will come from Raleigh with the A. and M. team, and will follow every play as they have done at every game played by the farmers this season. The train will not be filled with students only. One will be loaded down with citizens of Raleigh, who have gone football mad over the strong team developed this season at their college.

Best in Years.

Mr. Harris said that the team this year was the best in years, and had shown as well in every game played. When it arrives in strengthened it will be in the best trim possible, and will do things to the V. P. I. crowd that will "show them."

In the meantime, V. P. I. seems to have developed a team out of the rural material played here a few weeks ago against the University of North Carolina. The contest with Bucknell Saturday was a revelation to the followers of the game, and was a surprise even to the players. The shifting of players which was done so thoroughly after the Carolina game has done great things for the team and has strengthened it wonderfully.

There will hardly be any trouble over the eligibility of certain A. and M. men, as the management will certainly concede to the rules of the association, and drop those who are ineligible and have overplayed their time. The strength of the Carolina team will not be materially affected by this, and it will be done without much loss.

PRESIDENT ELIOT
FAVORS FOOTBALL

Harvard Head Gives Game as Played Now His Hearty Approval.

BOSTON, MASS., November 12.—Football under the new rules, as demonstrated in the Harvard-Carlisle game at Cambridge Saturday, meets with favorable comment from President Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard University, in an interview made today. President Eliot, whose attitude towards the sport last year made it seem probable that football would soon be dropped from Harvard's athletic schedule, attended Saturday's contest, and expressed his enjoyment of the game, which, he said, appeared to him "free from unnecessary roughness."

RACE IN PETERSBURG.
Richmond Team Will Meet
Cockade City Boys.

The large number of learners that daily take advantage of the sessions at the big skating rink at Edinburg shows the ever increasing interest in this popular amusement. Learners classes, with competent instructors are out every afternoon from 5 to 8 o'clock, and many beginners "got in the rink" at the evening sessions from 8 to 11 o'clock.

Among the new and interesting moving pictures received for this week are "The Thrilling Rescue," "Country Courtship," "The Henpecked Husband," "Greengoods Men," "Cleaning a Stovepipe," "Smoked Out," "The Apple Woman and the Bad Boy," "Lolita Powerfall," "Tramps in Clover," "A Pine Shave," and "The Housemaid's Lover."

Several rolls of new music have also been received for the handsome orchestra. A number of sharing enthusiasts will leave Manchester on a special car for Petersburg at 7 o'clock this evening, when the local relay team goes over to try conclusions with the team of the Cockade City, who met defeat here last Friday night. This is a return match, and will doubtless be close and exciting.

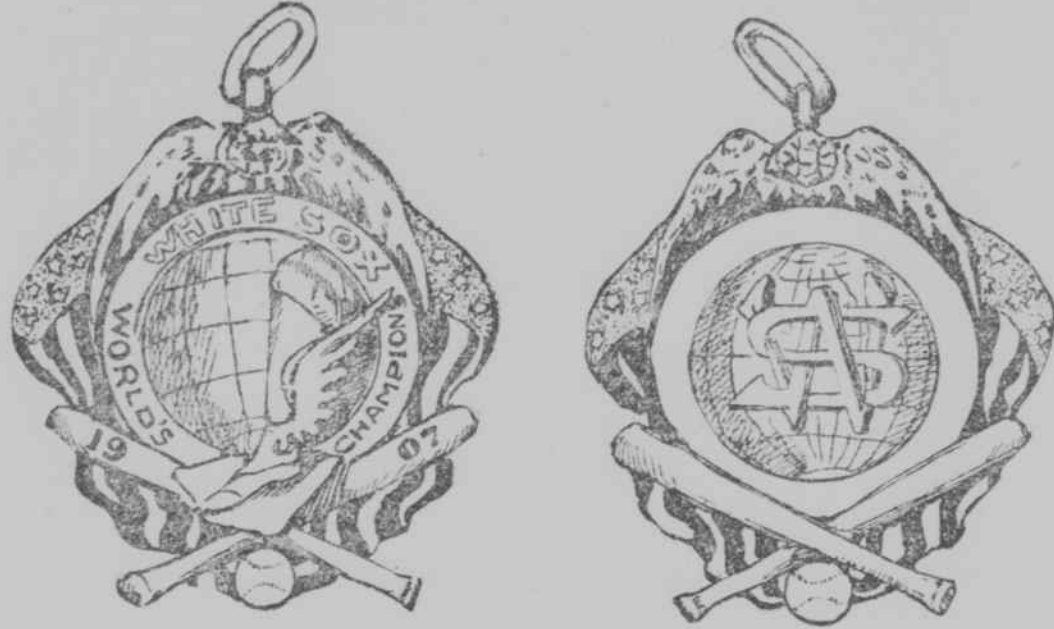

TEAMS AT WORK.

Elevens Will Play Championship Game Next Thursday.

The football teams from St. Andrew's School and the Richmond High School were hard at work yesterday practicing for their championship game Thursday at the Broad Street Park. Both are in good condition and are working hard to get into proper shape for the match.

At the present time the St. Andrew's team seems to have a little the better of the proposition Thursday, but it will be given a hard tussle for honors. In point of weight the team has much the better of it, and should be by far the best ground gainer through the line. The line players are much more experienced.

The Richmond team will depend largely upon its ability to work its trick plays upon the heavy opponents. Its forward pass in itself is worked perfectly enough to make the heavier team look to its laurels. Besides it has a number of other plays, such as double passes and circumsomes that will certainly gain ground when line plays fail to gain.

EMBLEMS OF WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP IN BASE BALL WHICH WILL BE GIVEN TO WHITE SOX

The world's championship baseball emblems to be given the Chicago White Sox by the National Commission have just been completed in Cincinnati.

One side represents the globe, encircled by a band upon which is marked "World's Championship in Baseball." Over the globe is a baseball bat, and between the bat and the globe is a baseball. The other side of the emblem is a baseball bat, with the words "WORLD'S CHAMPION" and "1907" around it.

The whole of the grouping, as described, is encircled by two American flags, the center of the American League being the victors. The flags will be waving and emblems in the national colors. Every emblem represented in the badge will be made true to nature—that is, the bats will be round, the globe convex, the feathers of the wings at the top will be chased by hand, the ball and bat will be half round, the home plate and baseball will also be round.

In addition to the twenty-one eligible players, one of the badges will be presented to owner Charles Comiskey. The total cost of the emblems will be $1,500, an average of $75 each. They are much more expensive than the bats which were given to the Giants last year, which cost only $50 each.

BASKET BALL LEAGUE WILL BE ORGANIZED ON THURSDAY

Much Interest Is Being Taken In the Movement Inaugurated by Y. M. C. A.—Prize Offered For Championship Team.

Under the auspices of the Amateur Basketball League, six teams will begin practice within the next few days, each in the hope of securing the prize offered for the champion team of the city. The league is offered by officials of the Central Y. M. C. A. and it is most probable that the teams will be made up from members of that organization. The lists, however, are open to all teams in the city, and will be open throughout the year.

The games will be played on class nights, after the classes of the Y. M. C. A. and the teams, which have been taken largely from these classes, will have a large audience of supporters for every game. The matches will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, where all the members are working for the good of the movement.

GIRL RULES WILD
BEASTS WITH WORD
AND TOUCH OF HAND

Senorita Davilla Presides Over Group of Fierce Jaguars, Who Crouch at Her Command—Monkey Has Tuberculosis.

Among the attractions brought to Richmond by the Bostock show, and chief attraction from the point of view, is Senorita Davilla and her group of jaguars. With their sinuous grace, ferocity and splendid ferocity these animals exhibit the highest type of bestial intelligence and can be subjugated only by a will fearless and stronger than their own.

Senorita Davilla, in her street dress, as she was seen by a reporter, does not create the impression of a wild animal trainer. She looked, with the sharp and bettering lustre to her already brilliant eyes, more like a wealthy housewife than the company of the most ferocious of the wild animal world.

Some months ago when the show was in Boston Senorita Davilla slipped on the sidewalk in one of her acts and fell to the floor. Like a beam of light Cartouche, the largest and most beautiful cat in the group, was upon her snarling, with his feline-like claws protruding from his velvet pads. Without losing her presence of mind for an instant, this slip of a girl called to him with the voice he had always obeyed, and the familiar leap over his nose drove him away.

Senorita Davilla, amid the thunderous applause of the audience, put the animals through their act before she left the arena with the same insouciance that characterized all her other performances.

When questioned about her experience she said with the utmost naivete: "Cartouche only needed to be reminded that I was his mistress, whether I had slipped or not, and I reminded him. He is really not dangerous when I remember, and I always remember."

It is a sight to be remembered to see these vicious denizens of the jungle crouching with their tongues the soft hand that rules them with a whip.

Although they fear their mistress, they love her with that wild, fierce love that has been their heritage for centuries. Life in the wild wastes of trees where their home is, and which love is soon forgotten in their thirst for the blood of the prey that lies quivering at their feet.

In the tiers of cages which at present will be round, the globe convex, the feathers of the wings at the top will be chased by hand, the ball and bat will be half round, the home plate and baseball will also be round.

In addition to the twenty-one eligible players, one of the badges will be presented to owner Charles Comiskey. The total cost of the emblems will be $1,500, an average of $75 each. They are much more expensive than the bats which were given to the Giants last year, which cost only $50 each.

For the horse stalls in the Auditorium at the Bostock show, there is a case which holds Jenghis, the monkey, which is the sympathy of all beholders. Whipped in a rubber which is only broken by a rocking couch, Jenghis sits in a corner, and, though shivering, dreams of the warm breezes of his South American home.

Six months ago Jenghis was brought to New York with hundreds of his kind to make one of the attractions of the Bostock show. The damp, cold climate endeavored the first signs of tuberculosis, and Jenghis began to fall.

Everything has been done for him that could save off the dread disease, but still he droops, and his appetite fails, until now he eats practically nothing, and falls rapidly. Hope for his recovery has been abandoned, and he is kept comfortable merely in the cause of humanity.

To see this miniature replica of humanity, with the look of a sick child, is enough to move the hardest heart. With nothing, Jenghis, in his make-up, waits his fate, and he is kept comfortable merely in the cause of humanity.

With a far-away look in his eyes, as if seeing the palms of his native jungle waving in the tropic breeze, Jenghis awaits his fate from home and abroad. The services done him by the kind-hearted attendants are resented with a curfew, but with a resigned air, as if it were all in the end, and he awaits his fate with the stoicism of a philosopher.
